the deposit is not stated, but Odd Fellow officials stated that the sum is considerably below $50,000, which is the figure given by an afternoon paper. The United States funds in the bank sare amply secured by the bank's deposit of United States bonds placed with the subtreasury department. Postmaster Thompson stated that the suspension would tie up $3,489,96 of postoffice funds, but this would occasion no embarrassment, as the office could pay salaries and expenses out of the receipts of the office. Mr. Thompson yesterday opened an account with the Indiana National, and wired the Attorneygeneral for further instructions. Pension Agent Ensley said the government could not possibly lose anything by the suspension, as its deposits are secured by bonds. For the next payment of pensions, due Aug. 4. Agent Ensley will draw his checks on the Assistant Treasurer at New York. Mr. Ensley is, of course, not held responsible for any of the funds.

The State Board of Agriculture has its deposit in the Indianapolis National, but its balance is small. Secretary Kennedy states that the preparations for the State fair will not be embarrassed, as the board will be able to raise all the money necessary on the securities it has to offer.

The Star Building and Loan Association had a deposit in the bank, but the amount of it is not large. Secretary H. H. Fay said his association had adopted the policy of scattering its deposits among the several banks of the city, and the amount tied up in the Indianapolis National was not sufficient to cause embarrassment. The Danie Building and Loan Association bad a balance in the bank of only $20,75, having checked out closely to nake loans.

History of the Bank.

The Indianapolis National Bank is one of the oldest and has been one of the most flourishing banks in Indianapolis and the entire West. It is one of the landmarks at the northeast corner of Penusylvania and Washington streets, where it has been located for nearly a generation. The gentleman who was president at its organization, in 1864-Mr. T. f. Haughey-is its president still, and during its entire extence there have been but two cashiera-Mr. E. E. Rexford, who now holds that position, and Mr. H. Latham, who was cashier from the organization until he resigned in 1888. Mr. Haughey, the president, is not only the oldest bank president in continuous service in the city but he 18, with one exception, the oldest banker here. The institution has been wisely managed, being conservative, yet liberal in aiding the best financial and commercial interests of the city. President Haughey stands high, not as a financier alone, but as a leading citizen as well. He has been treasurer of the Indiana Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., for more than thirty-six years in succession. He was for six years a member of the City Council, and as chairman of the finance committee had the satisfaction of seeing the city, at the commencement of the late war, free from debt. He has given valuable aid to Del'auw University as a trustee and member of the loan committee, in charge of its most important finances. He has also rendered valuable Nob esville Banks Unshaken.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. Noblesville, Ind., July 25 .- The reported suspension of banks at Indianapolis, today, had no appreciable effect upon either of the banks in this city, although T. P. Haughey, president of the Indianapolis National Bank, is also the president of the Citizens' State Bank, of this city. The Indianapolis National was only the correspondent of the Citizens', and, as such, held a small balance, not enough to in any manner affect the solvency of the latter bank, which has a handsome surplus over all liabilities and the unshaken confidence of the people. The First National Bank, of this city, is a new institution. The management of both banks has been on a conservative basis, and those who know most about the banks have the greatest confidence in their absolute solvency.

BANK OF COMMERCE,

Payments Suspended but Its Managers Ex-

peet to Resume. "Owing to the stringency of the money market, and the consequent difficulties of realizing on securities this bank has suspended." This notice, written on a piece of white paper, was posted at the door of the Bank of Commerce yesterday morning, and stood out in bold relief against the blue of the bank curtain. It was put up shortly before 9 o'clock, and a few minutes after that time quite a crowd of people had gathered about it, first one and then the other pushing anxiously up to the door to read it. But the slip of paper told no more than was written on its surface, and they would fall back to discuss the situation with those who had been there before them, and to impart their views to those who had just arrived.

The immediate cause of the suspension of the Bank of Commerce was the failure of the Indianapolis National Bank to ope n its doors. The president and officers of it did not contemplate that such a step would be necessary until late Monday night. The first blow that the Bank of Commerce suffered was the failure of the Premier steel works, of whose paper the bank held some. This was known to some extent to the bank's patrons, and quite a number of them at once withdrew their patronage. The officers of the bank state that since the 1st of April they have paid out about $120,000 from the resources of the bank, caused largely by the uneasy feeling which has

Then a few days ago came the failure of C. W. DePauw, at New Albany, who was known to have a large block of the stock of the bank. His failure did not at the time materially hurt the bank, it carrying him only to the extent of about $25,000, but it served to increase the uneasiness which had already become apparent. Cashier William Bosson called on a number of the bankers during the latter part of last week, and told them the exact condition of the bank's affairs. They agreed with him that that condition was a good one, considering the strained condiof other things, and told him that they did not believe that would have any trouble in getting along, saying at the same time that if he needed any assistance they would willingly give it to him. Saturday night he went to them again, and several of the bankers offered to loan him $10,000 each, should be need it Monday morning. He did not, but the bank finished up Monday's business very short of cash, and Mr. Bosson realized that he would need the money vesterday morning. He went to the bankers yesterday morning and told them the condition of affairs, but in the meantime news had come to them of the failure of the Indianapolis bank, and they said that they would not be able to let him have as much cash as had been promised, they be-lieving that demands would be made on them which they would have to meet, but named a certain sum which they would advance him. That sam Mr. Bosson did not believe would be sufficient to tide the bank over, so concluded that the wisest course would be to close the bank, which

John W. Ray, the president of the bank, said, yesterday, that the question of the bank's solvency rested wholly on its ability to realize on its securities. Those, he said, amount to about $354,458.39, and that he believed them all to be good. "I would be willing to say, and do say, that I believe that every dollar of it is good, and that we will have no trouble in getting it. I make the prediction that we will open for business again in thirty days, and with everything all right."

The following statement was issued by the bank to its correspondents yesterday: Owing to the inability to collect, and after ad-

Cashier Bosson was asked about his belief of the ability of the bank to resume business, and, also, about the payment of its deposits. He said: "I do not want to be put on record as saying that the bank will be able to realize dollar for dollar on its securities, and with that lies the future of the bank. I have always believed that those securities were good, and believe them to be so yet, but at such a time as this paper that was good, gilt-edged two months ago, may not be now. However, I am not at all appre-hensive of the outcome. I believe that we will pay dollar for dollar, and that we will have a surplus to our credit. Things are, of course, all in more or less confusion today, and as they straighten themselves out I shall be able to tell more about it."

Mr. Bosson left at 4 o'clock vesterday afternoon for New Albany, to consult with N. T. DePauw, who is one of the large stockholders in the bank, and will, with him, try to devise some means to extricate the bank from the difficulties in which it finds itself. He will return at 7 o'clock this morning.

AT THE OTHER BANKS.

They Were Fall of Cash and Comparatively Empty of People Yesterday Afternoon. The other banks stood the day serenely.

A slight run on some started at the opening and was over by 10 o'clock everywhere, except at the Indiana National. The similarity in name of this financial Gibraltar to that of the closed Indianapolis National caused some confusion in the minds of the more thoughtless small depositors, and the run here lasted until about 1 o'clock. It might have lasted a month and the bank would still be able to meet all de-

For the rest of the day the banks were full of cash and comparatively empty of

It spoke volumes for the conservative good judgment of the people of Indianapolis, and for the confidence in which her banks are held that the excitement was so slight. Nor is this confidence misplaced.

The other banks are literally "loaded for bear," and amply able to meet demands.

Confusion of Names Causes a Slight Run, Volney T. Malott, president of the Indiana National Bank, was serene and unruffled when seen by a representative of the Journal at the close of business hours yesterday afternoon. "The aggregate checked out of the Indiana National Bank to-day," said Mr. Malott, "was not large. Those who removed their balances were almost without exception small depositors. We were prepared for any emergency, and the funds withdrawn have had no effect whatever in crippling the bank's resources. The run commenced at 10 o'clock and at 1 P. M. had spent itself. business after that hour proceeding as usual. The reason," continued Mr. Malott, "why the withdrawal of funds from the Indiana National exceeded that in any of the other banks was because the people got the Indiana National and Indianapolis National confused. One thing that goes to show the confusion that prevailed was the fact that many depositors, who never had funds in the indiana National, appeared in line with checks on the Indianapolis National." Mr. Malott said that he was convinced that the Danic was over and that to-day business would move along in its accustomed channels. The Indiana National Bank, Mr. Malott stated, had seen the present crisis approaching and had doubly prepared for it. The Indiana National is the successor of the Indianapolis branch of the Bank of Indiana, and has gone through all the panics, both general and local, with credit. Mr. Malott stated that the suspension of the Indianapolis National was due to the failure of its officers to appreciate the conditions that existed and the consequent failure to prepare for the crisis that was impending. When they did finally realize the situation it was too late to get under cover. Mr. Malott did not think that any of the other banks were in an exposed condition, and he believes that the panic, so far as it relates to Indianapolis, is over. The business conditions of Indianapolis he regards as eminently healthful. There is no inflation of values, no boom; but all kinds of business are on a conservative basis. There has been a gradual accumulation of capital here during several years past, and whatever the extent of the crash and collapse elsewhere, the continued prosperity The deposits from regular oustomers at the Indiana National yesterday were fully Indianapolis are assured. up to the average daily deposits, and many new accounts were opened with it by som of the largest and best business houses and corporations. The business community knows that this institution is safe beyond questio D.

At the Merchants' National. There was midsummer duliness at the Merchants' National all day, and it looked as though its depositors had gone fishing. "The doors are wide open," said Cashier Otto Frenzel, "if anybody wants to come in. We are never caught napping." President John P. Frenzel said:

l am very sorry to hear of the suspension of the Indianapolis National and the Bank of Commerce. Mr. Haughey has been very popular with his fellow-bankers, and I am satisfied that I voice the sentiment of all the banks in saying that he has the fullest sympathy of us all. The suspension is probably due to the delay in converting securities into cash. I am of the opinion that depositors in both of these banks will be paid in full in due time. While the effect of these failures will be to excite the small and timid depositors, the remaining banks are fully prepared and will meet every demand.

State Bank of Indiana,

The new State Bank of Indiana, whose statement to the Auditor of State a few days ago showed it to have over 70 per cent. of its liabilities in cash, was taking things serenely when a Journal reporter called at 2:30 P. M. There was nobody in the bank but the officials. "We have gained in deposits to-day," said President Holt. "I expected a run, of course, and we were amply prepared to meet it, but on the contrary we gained new accounts. About twenty small depositors withdrew this morning, and I hope they will stay out. That is not the kind of depositors we want." The bank was kept open until b o'clock to accommodate any who might come, but there were no callers after 3:30.

At the Meridt n National, Mr. Wm. P. Gallup, president of the Meridian National, was in the front part of the bank most of the day, meeting depositors with a friendly word and assisting the few who wanted their money to get their checks cashed. Late in the day he said to a Journal reporter: "We are all right. We are here to pay all demands on the bank, and are prepared to meet them. I have no fears of the outcome. The only regret I have is that the money drawn out of the bank is just that much withdrawn from the channels of business, and will make tighter times for those wanting bank accommodations."

Capital National. Cashier Charles J. Doherty, of the Capital National, stated to a representative of the Journal that the failure of the Indianapolis National had bad no effect whatever to create a scare among Capital National depositors. He believed that the experiences here thus far were such that Indianapolis bankers would take such precautions that they will be able to withstand any run that may be precipitated.

At Fletcher's Bank,

At Fletcher's bank business went on as usual, except that some new accounts were taken in. Even at the opening of business. when there was a panicky feeling on the streets, it did not reach the Fietcher depositors, and no withdrawals of balances

The bank remained open until 5 o'clock to accommodate depositors, but little or no business was transacted after the regular banking hours.

COUNTY TREASURY FILLING UP. Many People Flocked There Yesterday to Pay Their November Taxes. County Treasurer Backus said yesterday afternoon that the suspension of the two banks and consequent runs upon the other panks was noticed by a phenomenal influx of callers at the treasurer's office to pay their second installment of taxes. There was an unusually large amount of money taken in by the office in this way yesterday. Very soon after banking hours persons began coming into the office paying their taxes and a large number paid them in crisp, new bills which still retained the smell of the vaults. One man employed in the courthouse displayed a roll of bills the amount of which is unknown but there was a five-hundreddollar note in the roll. He was asked by Treasurer Backus where he got the money and replied that he had drawn it out of letcher's bank when he heard of the other failures. "Take it back," said Backus. "You are foolish; there is no cause for alarm." Later in the day he took the money back and deposited it in the same ital National Bank two months ago. Mr. Eckels had just told the Journal correspondent that he expected to see the Kendailville bank resume in a few days, and that the failure of Mr. Huston's bank would probably have no disastrous effect. While he spoke telegrams came pouring in from all over the country, from Texas to Wisconsin, officially announcing the fail-ure of national banks or unofficially notifying him of the suspension of private banks. The abstract of the report of the Indiana banks, under the last call, had not been completed, but it was generally very satisfactory, and the absence of any evil effects of the recent stroke of Dwigginsism on the national banks had been commented on. Then, when the failure of the Indianapolis bank was announced, it was like a stroke of lightning from a clear sky. Indeed, Mr. Eckels, after the first shock, took pains to conceal the amazement he felt. Commendable Action of Stockholders.

FT. WAYNE, Ind., July 25,-The Indiana Division of the League of American Wheelmen met in Ft. Wayne to-day. The exciting races occurred at Centilvre Park before 3,800 people. Thomas Hay, of Indianapolis, officiated as referee. The weather was fine, and the half-mile track-a dirt onewas fast, but a heavy head wind prevailed and interfered with record breaking. All the crack riders of the country were in attendance, save Zimmerman. The novice race prizes were won by three Chicago men in slow time. Great interest was taken in the State championship events, and Indianapolis riders carried off the prizes for all three-quarter, half mile and two-mile events. W. C. Marmon won the first two, but E. V. Minor outstripped him in the last. M. H. Burt, a Wichita rider, with seventy-five yards, won the half-mile handicap. He went the half in the second heat in 1:00 4/5, remarkable time, considering the wind. The riders in the mile open raised a howl when the referee fixed the limit at 2:30. Banker and Bliss finished the first heat in 4:00. The final heat was in 2:32, and the race was postponed till tomorrow. The final heat was sent away under the protests of Murphy and other Eastern riders. Johnson, Sanger, Bliss, Taylor, Murphy and Windle will start in races to-morrow. Summaries:

CLEVELAND TROTTING.

Favorites Had Little Trouble to Win the First Three Ruces.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CLEVELAND, July 25 .- The favorites had everything their own way at the opening day of the Grand Circuit races in this city. From the time the bell was rung for the first heat until the last of the afternoon. the first choice of the pool buyers demonstrated that confidence was well placed. The opening event of the afternoon was the race for trotters of the 2:27 class. It took four heats to win it, but it might just as well have been won in three. Hickok, who had the black California mare Alahandre, was not altogether sure that he could beat Nyanza and he tried the first heat to ascertain of what kind of stuff she was made. He evidently was entistied that he could win without trouble, for the next three heats went to the Californian with scarcely a struggle. Outside of Nyanza and Alahandre there was nothing in the field that had speed enough to make a race against the favorites. The fooryear-old 2:25 race was a gift for Miss Lida. She had been cracked up a sure winner on the form shown in previous contests and in the three heats that it took her to win the race, there never was a time that the nose of another horse showed in front. The pacing race, for horses of the 2:20 class, was an unknown quantity, and it was believed that it would take six or more heats to decide it, but May Marshall, the full sister to Mary Marshall, the trotting mare, was at her best and surpassed her own record, winning the pace in three heats after the first. She lowered her mark to 2:12, which shade faster than that of Mary Marshall, her trotting sister. The pair are probably the fastest full-blooded sisters in the trotting world. In the first beat May Mashall was not in good place to get to the front, but after she had secured a position in that heat she found it not a hard task to beat the remainder of the field, and generally did it coming home from the three-quarter pole. Christo Queen, a Kentucky mare that won the first heat, made a new mark for herseif. The average time of the race was the fastest of any 2:20 race that ever was paced over the track. The driver of Juliet was thrown from his sulky on the back stretch in the fourth heat in some unaccountable way, and the horse ran Garrison's Winning Mount. MONMOUTH PARK, July 25, -A stiff southerly breeze, with clouds of dust, made the afternoon at this track anything but pleasant. Attendance light. Just before the racing began auctioneer Bruce sold in the saddling paddock tifteen horses in training, the property of Fred Gebhardt. The entire consignment brought only $1,980. The first race was reduced to a threecornered fight between Sirocco, Fairy and Aloha. Garrison had the mount on Sirocco. lie rode a perfect race and lauded him an easy winner. It was the "Snapper's" first winning mount since he piloted Boundless to victory in the great American Derby. Theevent of the day, the Stevens stakes, was won by Sir Walter. The race was but little more than a pipe opening gallop for bim. Results:

First Race-Five and one-half furlongs. Sirocco won; Fairy second, Aloba third. Time, 1:04 12.

Second Race-Six furlougs. Luster won; Mary stone second, Redbanner third, Time, 1:1014. Third Race-Five and one-half furlongs; the Sapling stakes. Senator Grady won; Henry of Navarre and Hiderabad ran a dead heat for place. Time, 1:05. Fourth Race-One mile and a half; the

have learned nothing from the experience of the Fall River police in the Borden marder case. They are making the same error by taking it as a matter of course that the wife of the man Kline, who was murdered in his own house recently, committed the deed, and they are harrying the poor woman with threats in the of exterting a confession. is absolutely no evidence against the woman except the facts that she was the first to discover the crime and is the only person known to have been in the house at the time the deed was committed. Neighbors are also committing the same blunder many Fall River people did in making themselves judge and jury and trying the case off hand, pronouncing the wife guilty and demanding that the authorities arrest her. It is a most unmercifully cruel treatment of a woman who has always borne a good character. and who, as a result of the tragedy, is compelled to go to work and support herself and children. There ought to be enough honest public sentiment in Indianapolis to demand fair treatment for this woman under such trying circumstances.

TWENTY-ONE CARS BURNED.

Fire at Lafavette Supposed to Have Been Caused by Tramps.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 25 .- At 5 o'clock this afternoon a vacant warehouse belonging to the Monon Railway Company was fired, it is supposed by tramps, and was entirely burned. The flames spread to the long lines of freight cars on the adjacent tracks and twenty-one cars were burned. The north end of the passenger and freight depot was on fire many times, and it was so hot the officers bet flee, leaving their papers. The latter were not burned. The depot is damaged $1,200. Flames communicated to the residence of ex-marshal Mortimer Sullivan. and his property and yards were damaged $3,000. He carried no msurance. Of the twenty-one cars burned, nineteen were loaded with coal, salt, lumber, stone, brick, etc. They were mostly oars belonging to other roads and are a complete loss. The railroad loss is estimated on cars, contents and buildings at about $25,000. Nothing can be ascertained here as to any ine ... ance. The wind carried burning shingles several blocks and ignited roofs of other dwellings, but no other serious fires occurred.
